This program is for you!

Is your child reading at level and does he/she have a passion for literature?

Do they need to practice math skills to reinforce their knowledge through the summer?

This program is for you!

Does your child dislike writing?

This is the program for you!

Is your child an advanced reader and looking for a challenge?

This program is for you!

Objective: To enhance every child's love of reading literature and engage even the most resistant of readers and to combat the inevitable "summer loss" of math skills due to lack of practice through the summer.

During this six week enrichment program, both special ed and regular ed teachers will be differentiating instruction based on individual needs and interests. Following a brief reading level and basic math concept assessment, students will be divided into appropriate groups in order to tackle various genres of literature and basic grade level mathematical concepts in a variety of fun and interesting ways.
